

CONSTRUCTION PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Outsourcing your next construction project?

These days, outsourcing construction project management makes good economic sense. But finding a construction project manager you can depend on to deliver on time and on budget — with minimal disruption to your ongoing operation — can be a challenge.

With over 20 years' experience managing large- and small-scale commercial construction and renovation projects, Baystate Services' project management professionals have seen it all. That's why our clients return to us time after time when they need a construction partner they can rely on to do it right the first time.

Baystate: Full-service project management you can rely on

Whether you need a PM to manage every aspect of your next project or want an experienced contracting professional to partner with your in-house team, the Baystate team has all the resources necessary to manage every aspect of your project from planning to closeout.

Our goal: No surprises

You're outsourcing your project to avoid headaches, not to create them! We know that the key to successful project management is meticulous planning and ongoing communication — with you, your vendors and subcontractors. We'll work with your team during the analysis and planning phase to create a realistic schedule that meets your budget and deadlines. Then we'll manage the project every step of the way, right through to closeout. And we're fully insured, bondable, and OSHA-certified, so you can be confident your project will comply with state-of-the-art industry standards.

No headaches. No surprises. Just top-quality work delivered seamlessly, on time and on budget.

Want to learn more about how Baystate's outsourced project management services can make your next construction project seamless from start to finish?

Contact us today to speak with one of our professional project managers.

